APacCHRIE /APF 2015 Auckland, New Zealand

It was an honour for the Auckland University of Technology to host another great APacCHRIE conference here in Auckland, New Zealand.

Academics and industry members from around the world discussed the theme 'Hospitality and tourism in a greening world: challenges and opportunities' as well as general issues affecting hospitality, tourism and events in our global community. Idea sessions and dialogue were held on adaptation, benchmarking and innovation in education and research, to ensure students of the field will benefit from the most relevant and current practices.

The 6th Youth Conference for undergraduate students and the Asia Pacific Forum for postgraduate students held in parallel with the main conference, 'Hospitality and Tourism in a Greening World: Fresh ideas from future generations' provided undergraduate students the opportunity to share their developing projects in the field of Hospitality and Tourism, network with their peers and learn from visiting experts in relation to leadership capabilities and career opportunities.

Student Contribution

AUT students have been actively involved in managing the 2015 APacCHRIE/APF Conference. Since 2014, 34 students have worked on planning, accommodation, website, Facebook, Twitter and special conference tours, as part of their study. There are more than 80 additional AUT student volunteers working on-site as registration coordinators, presentation room monitors, stage managers, and hospitality and catering staff.

The conference organising committee is particularly indebted to final year Cooperative Education students on the BA Events Management degree. We acknowledge the contribution of the following AUT students: Janith Amaratunga, Chloe Miller, Brandon Mann, Maupenei Wilson, Charlotte Eglinton, Sherin Nicholson, Arlene Underwood, Brooke Miller, Eileen Ido, Kathryn Ward, Chantelle Pulevaka, Beckie Epke, Neta Setefano and Autumn Valido.
